

Attributes

Attributes are properties related to an article, for example end use, gender and category. Attributes are defined individually then assigned to an attribute group. When a catalog is created, the attribute group should be assigned to the catalog. The following sections discuss how to perform these actions.