

Add line architecture articles

Adding articles to line architecture catalogs is different than master and inherited catalogs. You can add articles in three different ways:

- New  : to add a new article that is not included in any of the linked catalogs.
- Carryover  : to add articles from linked catalogs with the same attributes.
- Comp  : to add articles similar to linked catalog articles but attribute values can be changed.

To add an article, click , the button expands to show the above options.

Add a new article:
