

Manage line architecture articles

For line architecture catalogs, articles can be managed through T1 Studio or T1. Articles are automatically synchronized in both applications. You can add new styles or requests for a new style. The window appears as shown below:

You can add new, comp, carryover articles, or add requests for a new article as mentioned in the coming sections.