General settings

The first tab is for the General settings through which you can specify the thumbnail size, and copy saved views from one catalog to another. You can also select whether you want to show the available colors for articles or no.

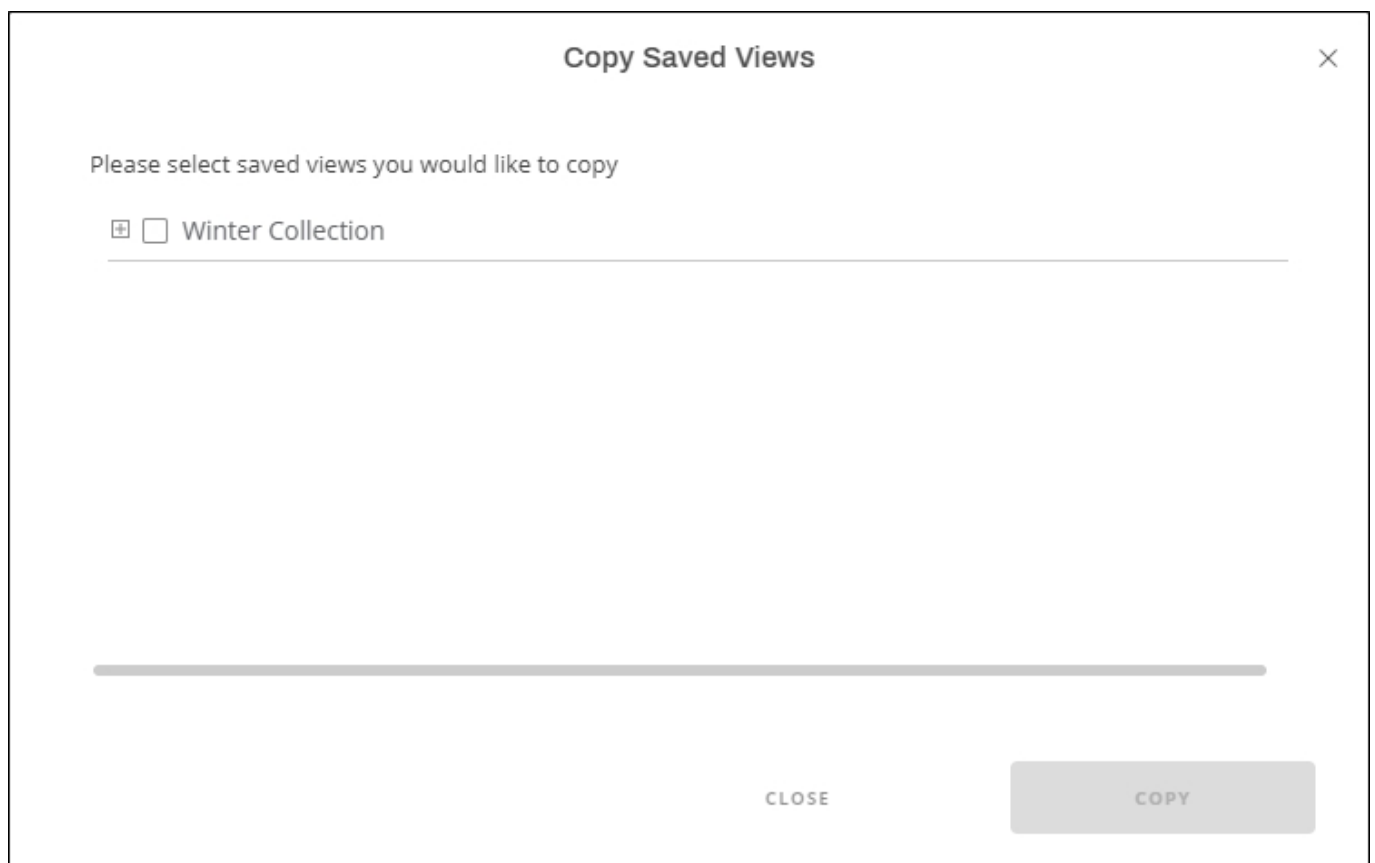

The thumbnail size will be reflected on articles throughout the application for different catalogs.

You can turn the slider button on to show the available colors box in the article details window, or off to hide the available colors.

You can either show or hide the favorite indicators by clicking the slider.

To select the article summary charts you want to view, click the checkbox next to it or click the checkbox next to Select all to view all charts.

To copy saved views from other catalogs, click Copy Saved Views, the following window appears:

The image shows a modal dialog box titled "Copy Saved Views" with a close button (X) in the top right corner. Inside the dialog, there is a prompt: "Please select saved views you would like to copy". Below this, there is a list item "Winter Collection" preceded by a plus icon in a square box and a checkbox. A horizontal line separates this item from the rest of the list. At the bottom of the dialog, there are two buttons: "CLOSE" and "COPY".

Click the catalog from which you want to copy the catalog, the menu is expanded to view the views as shown below:
